Principal's Desk

改善 Kaizen is a Japanese term that means 'change for the better' and is used in the modern world as a concept for continuous improvement. It aims at the process and finding progress, emphasising the importance of the journey.

Our college envisions empowerment through competency building with an ethical foundation. It translates this vision sticking strongly to the core values such as not taking success for granted and not being complacent, not resting on past laurels, not slowing down or give up, to add values to the work and try to be creative, and to keep the learning curve moving vertically. This may be summed up with the noble thoughts of Bhagavad Gita 'आ नो भद्राः क्रतवो यन्तु विश्वतोऽदब्धासो अपरितासउद्भिदः' meaning, may we grow solid and steadfast along with the noble thoughts from all directions come and evolve us.

Life is a journey that is more important than the destination. If we start enjoying and improving the quality of the journey, it must continually increase the satisfaction of life. It provides meaning to life and living. The Internal Quality Assurance Cell of the College is striving hard to achieve such a noble value by improving the quality of the process of education imparted in the college. It performs through functional committees supporting the college's academic departments to strengthen quality education on campus. The college can constantly be introspective, accept suggestions and criticisms and keep the progress curve moving upward constantly due to such an organic environment in the college.
