Principal's Desk

June 5, people, communities and organisations from all over the world come together to celebrate World Environment Day to raise awareness of and take action on urgent environmental challenges. The United Nations created this important day to raise awareness of the pressing need to safeguard and conserve our planet's natural resources.

World Environment Day gives individuals a chance to consider how human activity affects the environment and motivates them to change for the better in order to live sustainably. It acts as a catalyst for international discussion, teamwork, and efforts made together to create a greener and more sustainable future for future generations.

The theme for World Environment Day on 5 June 2023 will focus on solutions to plastic pollution under the campaign Beat Plastic Pollution. The world is being engulfed by plastic. More than 400 million tonnes of plastic are produced every year, half of which is designed to be used only once. Of that also, less than 10 percent is recycled. Today, plastic is one of the biggest threats to the planet.

World Environment Day continues to motivate people from all walks of life to take charge of the environment and strive towards a more sustainable and resilient future through a variety of initiatives, including tree planting, clean-up efforts, educational initiatives and policy advocacy. It serves as a reminder that maintaining the health of our planet is crucial for both present and future generations.
